

DevQuest Sprite Artist Brief

Make an original 32x32 pixel mascot for one day of the year. Paid $10 USD, credited with a link to your work.

The short version

A 32 x 32 pixel mascot on a transparent background, in the DevQuest palette, with a dark outline, chunky and readable at small sizes. PNG. It must be your own original creation: no existing characters, no AI. You get $10 USD (paid via PayPal), a credit, and a link to your portfolio on that day's slot.

Canvas

- Size: exactly 32 x 32 px.
- Background: transparent (no fill, no frame).
- Subject: about 24 px tall, centered, a couple of px of breathing room on every side.
- Single frame: no animation for now.

Style

These sprites appear tiny (about 64 px in the site header), so clarity beats detail.

- Chunky: keep features at least ~2 px. Fine single-pixel detail disappears at header size.
- One clear subject with an obvious silhouette.
- Dark outline all the way around, near-black #0b0e13. This keeps the collection feeling like one family.
- Simple shading: a lighter top, a mid body, a darker bottom is plenty.
- Friendly and on-brand: game-dev and fantasy/RPG themes fit naturally.

Palette

Pull from the DevQuest family so the collection stays cohesive. Pick a base color and 2 to 3 shades of it, plus the shared outline. Always: outline #0b0e13, highlight white #f0f6fc.

Family	Light	Mid	Dark
Green	#56d364	#3fb950	#238636
Gold	#e3b341	#d29922	#9e6a10
Teal	#56d3c0	#1f9e8c	#0f6e56
Purple	#bc8cff	#8957e5	#5a32a3
Coral	#f0997b	#d85a30	#993c1d
Blue	#79b8ff	#58a6ff	#1f6feb

The site background is dark, so keep the body in the mid/light range and reserve the darkest tone for the outline.

What we can and can't accept

- Your own original work, made by hand. No reusing or adapting someone else's art.

- No existing characters or IP. Original creatures only. Anything recognizable from another game, show, or brand (Mario, Pokemon, Sonic, a Minecraft creeper, Kirby) is off the table, even as 'your own take' or fan art. Invent something new.
- No AI-generated art. The whole point is human-made pixel art.
- All-ages and kind: nothing explicit, gory, hateful, or demeaning to any group.
- No tracing or plagiarism. By submitting, you confirm the work is yours.

How to submit

- Use the claim button on the site for the day you want, so we don't double-book it.
- Upload your finished PNG with the form.
- We review for fit, pay you, and post it with your credit and link.
- We post up to 5 sprites per week; a full week queues you for the next.

Pay, credit & rights

- $10 USD per sprite, paid on acceptance via PayPal (or Wise). Those are the two methods we can pay. Or you can decline the fee and donate your sprite to the site (optional, never expected).
- One slot per artist, so lots of people get featured.
- Credit: your handle and a link to your site live on that slot and on the public collection page.
- Rights: you keep full ownership and can show it anywhere. DevQuest buys a non-exclusive right to display it as a site mascot.